Hopsiland Planai

Hopsiland is a real highlight for little ones! High up on the Planai they accompany our mascot Hopsi on his journey. An abundance of great play stations for swinging, sliding, climbing and balancing await along the circular route. Whether it's the marble run, the water features, the Kasalm, the North American tipi or one of the many other attractions – variety and fun are guaranteed.

Highlight: At the heart of Hopsiland on Planai is the North Pole, an eight-metre-high play station with marble runs, a slide and motor skills elements. It's perfect for little adventurers and unique photos because the viewing platform offers a fabulous view of the Dachstein Massif.

A particular hit with our young visitors:

- On the competition marble run friends, siblings and parents can take part in a unique duel.
- At the Rabbit Creek station in the Märchenwiese area little gold panners can search for treasure.

A richly varied children's programme provides entertainment aplenty

In the summer holidays a diverse daily children's programme awaits little visitors in Hopsiland. Whether it's stone painting, face painting or the Children's Olympics – there's no chance of getting bored with these fun activities!

Hopsiland Planai is served by the Planai main cable car. You will find the site map in the cover of this brochure. And by the way: There is loads to do in the Hopsi Children's Winter Wonderland in winter too!

Untertal – Riesach waterfall

The Riesach waterfall in the Untertal valley can be easily reached with the hiking bus. There are several stops en route through the valley where hikers can board or alight. At the destination there are many hiking options.

“Durch die Höll” alpine trail

This alpine trail leads past the Riesach waterfall to Lake Riesachsee and Gfölleralm hut. The highlight is a 50-metre-long suspension bridge. This route is not suitable for infants and dogs! An alternative route is the ascent via the forest road.

Hike to the Gollinghütte hut

From the Riesach waterfall guesthouse the trail leads into the valley to the material cable car at the Gollinghütte. From here follow the hiking trail as it winds up to the Gollinghütte.

Obertal – Eschachalm hut

From Schladming the bus travels through Rohrmoos into the Obertal valley and to the final stop Eschachalm hut. Particularly popular are the hikes to Lake Duisitzkarsee and the Keinprechthütte. Please note: No dogs are permitted on hikes in the Obertal valley.

Lake Duisitzkarsee hike

This hike leads from the Eschachalm via a hiking trail through a high forest to Lake Duisitzkarsee. There is also an alternative forest trail.

Keinprechthütte hut hike

The approach to the Keinprechthütte is via a gently ascending trail to the Neualm and on to the Keinprechthütte.

Obertal – Preuneggtaal valley mountain crossings

From the Eschachalm in the Obertal valley to Lake Duisitzkarsee the trail leads past the Giglach lakes to the Ursprungalm in the Preuneggtaal.

Or: From the Hopfriesen stop a mountain trail leads via the Giglach lakes to the Ursprungalm. (For experienced hikers!)

Preuneggtaal-Ursprungalm

From Schladming the hiking bus travels via Rohrmoos into the Preuneggtaal valley and on to the Ursprungalm. Here there are myriad opportunities to explore this idyllic valley. A small circular trail is ideal for a stroll and the Giglach lakes are reached via a hiking trail. For experienced walkers there is an opportunity to cross the mountain into the next valley.

Giglachsee hike

From the Ursprungalm a generally flat alpine trail with several steeper sections leads to the beautifully situated Giglach lakes. The approximately 30-minute circuit of the lower Giglach lake is well worth experiencing.

Preuneggtaal – Obertal mountain crossing

For experienced hikers the route from the Ursprungalm via the Giglach lake to Lake Duisitzkarsee and on to the Eschachalm is highly recommended. The return trip can be made with the Obertal-Eschachalm bus. The general ban on dogs in the Obertal valley applies on the cross-mountain hike.

By bike & hiking bus to the Reiteralm

With this bus you can easily travel with or without a bike from Schladming via the Hochwurzen summit cable car valley station to the Reiteralm Preunegg Jet. The bike trailer can accommodate 16 bikes, allowing cyclists to switch easily between Schladming and the Reiteralm trails.

Tip: An abundance of hikes on the Reiteralm!

Seewigtal – Steir. Bodensee

The Seewigtal valley and therefore the Styrian Bodensee are also easily reached with the hiking bus. This line runs from Schladming via „Haus im Ennstal“ valley to the car park at Styrian Lake Constance, from where there are several hiking options. The classic is the barrier-free 20-minute trail to Styrian Bodensee.

Styrian Bodensee – Lake Hüttensee (Hans Wödl Hütte) hike

This hike initially leads via a simple alpine road to the Styrian Bodensee, around half of which the trail leads. From there it continues uphill to the waterfall and on to Lake Hüttensee.

Three lakes tour extension: From Lake Hüttensee the trail leads behind the Hans Wödl Hütte hut via grass-covered terraces up to Lake Obersee.

Cross-mountain hike:

Lake Hüttensee – Hauser Kaibling

For experienced hikers with plenty of stamina there is the option of walking from Lake Hüttensee towards Höchststein to the turquoise-coloured Lake Moaralmsee. From there the trail continues on the Hauser Kaibling. Cable car whisks you in comfort into the valley to the bus stop.

Der Dachstein

Discover new perspectives

The Dachstein – a UNESCO World Heritage Site of the very highest order – is not “only” a mountain, but at 2,995 metres a truly exceptional peak in the Austrian Alps. In 1969 the Dachstein glacier became accessible to tourists thanks to the Dachstein Südwandbahn cable car. Now the mountain station has been completely transformed into an “Energy Crystal” with a truly unique ambience.

Externally the new mountain station catches the eye with a photovoltaic glass facade, which is able to provide up to 80% of the energy required by the mountain station. The centrepiece, however, is the brand-new glacier restaurant with a 280-degree view, including a large outdoor terrace. The new “Sky bar” on the top floor offers a view of the impressive south faces of the Dachstein.

HIGHLIGHT from summer 2024:
The revamped mountain station and Glacier restaurant and many more attractions

Dachstein attractions

Around the mountain station

In addition to the popular Sky Walk, the Suspension Bridge with the Stairway to Nothingness and the Ice Palace, newly-created viewing platforms around the mountain station are perfect for replenishing energy levels. The undisputed highlight is the stunning “Dachstein Stairway to Heaven” (page 24), while there is also an abundance of further attractions to discover:

- The Dachstein Stairway to Heaven with a spectacular view of the Dachstein
- The Half Dome Globe – experience ESA earth data on an interactive globe (in the valley station)
- The “Energy Crystal” art object close to mountain station
- The Apptauen App – an interactive online tool to visualise the development of the glacier
- The Insta-friendly Engagement Spot for a perfect selfie with a view of the Dachstein
- The digital binoculars with a view of the Koppenkarstein in the brand new Glacier restaurant

And much more besides!

Dachstein Stairway to Heaven

Spectacular and with fabulous views

Spectacular and with views to die for – the new Dachstein Stairway to Heaven is one of the top attractions on the rooftop of Styria and Upper Austria. This fascinating glass structure allows you to hover high above the glacier world. When you have climbed the 12 steps you are rewarded with an incomparable panoramic view of the majestic mountain peaks of the Dachstein Massif. The Dachstein Stairway to Heaven is on the outdoor terrace of the Glacier restaurant and offers unforgettable moments.

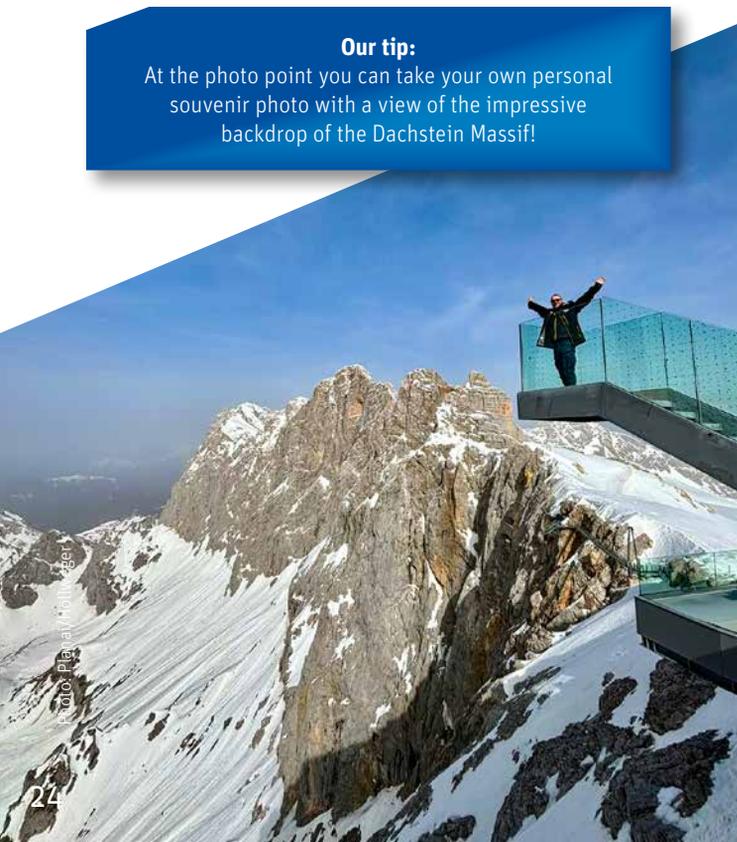

Our tip:

At the photo point you can take your own personal souvenir photo with a view of the impressive backdrop of the Dachstein Massif!

Suspension Bridge and the Stairway to Nothingness

As spectacular as the Dachstein itself

In 2013 the “Stairway to Nothingness”, which is in a higher location than any other suspension bridge in Austria, was unveiled. This attraction serves as a glass viewing platform. Built in exceptionally challenging circumstances on one of the most extreme building sites in the Alps, the Stairway to Nothingness offers you unique holiday experiences. Standing 400 metres above the foot of the Dachstein Massif, the dizzying downward view from the platform is not for the faint-hearted. The Suspension Bridge and the “Stairway to Nothingness” are directly linked to the Dachstein Ice Palace.

Dachstein Ice Palace

A journey to the interior of the glacier

The Dachstein Ice Palace – a unique natural jewel and also a symbol for the importance of environmental protection and sustainable tourism. In the new exhibition, which was created in partnership with the La Strada Graz festival and the Universalmuseum Joanneum Graz, the visitor follows in the footsteps of the alpine researcher Friedrich Simony and contemplates the many facets of the glacier with him.

Opening times for and getting to the Ice Palace:

The Dachstein Ice Palace can only be reached on the Dachstein cable car (no road)

Exhilarating moments on the Wilde Berg in Mautern

Experience wild animals up close, have a great time in the play park or enjoy an exciting ride on the summer toboggan run – these and many more “wild moments“ await you on the Wilde Berg in Mautern. The chairlift whisks you in comfort and with a stunning view to the mountain station at an altitude of 1,100 metres. It is also possible to take a mountain trip with the park bus. At the top a gentle, pushchair-friendly path leads through the wildlife park.

An animal world full of adventures

Around 300 wild animals such as wolves, bears, ibex, foxes, raccoons and wild cats greet guests of all ages, from kids to grandparents. A unique new attraction awaits visitors this year: The “Waidblick“! From this viewing platform at the heart of the deer enclosure it is possible to see the resident deer and yaks at close quarters.

During regular animal feeding sessions visitors gain exciting insights into the animals on the Wilde Berg, while the bird of prey show offers the opportunity to admire griffon vultures, eagles and falcons in action at close quarters. At the children’s farm creatures such as rabbits, goats, sheep and donkeys are waiting to be gently petted.

Eager for action? Then let’s head to the play park

On the way through the wildlife park yet more attractions await the visitor: In the play park you can survey your surroundings from the High Perch while the Moon Swing turns the world upside down. In the children’s play hut little adventurers can enjoy suspension bridges, a tunnel slide and much more besides.

EXPERIENCE

MAUTERN'S WILD MOMENTS

Wild treats for the taste buds on the Wilde Berg

With so much going on it's not just the animals who get hungry. In the Steinbockalm restaurant Styrian specialities can be enjoyed while enjoying a glorious view from the spacious terrace or in the cosy interior. The Bärenstube eatery serves sweet and savoury treats, right alongside the valley station of the two-seater chairlift.

OUR TIP: Like to celebrate your birthday in a unique location? Then the Wilde Berg in Mautern is just the right place for you. You can visit wolves, foxes and birds of prey, savour a fantastic lunch in the Steinbockalm restaurant and discover our slides, swings and much more besides, before racing down into the valley on the Meadow Glider toboggan run or a mountain go-kart!

Many routes lead into the valley

There are four different routes back into the valley: The gentle options lead through the forest along the footpath or through the air aboard the chairlift. Meanwhile, anyone of a more adventurous disposition can choose the Meadow Glider summer toboggan run or a mountain go-kart as their means of transport back into the valley.

Free admission with the Schladming-Dachstein Summer Card and Ski amadé's ALL-IN Card Green/Gold.
